

BH4G20 Hydraulic Bottle Jack 20T

PRODUCT DETAILS

- Welded structure ensures better performance and prevents oil leakages
- Steel forged base for great wear and impact resistance
- Extension screw (N/A BH4G30 - BH4G50) allow precise height adjustment
- Serrated saddle provides a secure lifting grip
- Safety valve prevents the ram from being overextended, which would cause damage to the piston
- Suitable to work only in vertical position
- Operating conditions: -20°C to 50°C
- CE certified by Official Independent Technical Inspection Association

PRODUCT ATTRIBUTES

| Product       |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
|---------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| BH4G20 | 20000 kg                                                                            | 242 mm                                                                              | 452 mm                                                                              | 175 mm                                                                              | 155 mm                                                                                | 245 mm                                                                                | 9.1 kg                                                                                |

Follow the Fish!

